

Differentiate Instruction for Multiple Intelligences and Learning Styles

Matching each student's instructional level to their preferred learning style and intelligence type is key to the success of any Special Education (SPED) program. Learning A-Z delivers a wealth of resources that students can access at school or home and teachers can personalize to meet the unique needs of each and every student.

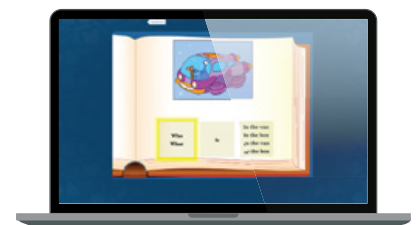

Multilevel Content

Use books at 29 levels of complexity along with extensive vocabulary support for skill building and social, collaborative, and hands-on learning.

Varied Instruction

Implement whole-class, small-group, or one-to-one instruction with resources in printable, projectable, online, and mobile formats.

Interactivity

Engage students with interactive lessons and tools, adaptive Headsprout episodes, instant feedback on quizzes, and built-in incentives and awards.

Personalize Learning to Meet Specialized Student Needs

Oral Support

Students can record themselves reading, listen to their own recordings, and submit to their teacher for progress monitoring.

Visual Support

Image variety, including photographs, illustrations, picture cards, and animation, supports different learning styles.

Audio Support

Students build fluency by listening to high-quality natural voice recordings, following along with highlighted text, and clicking to hear vocabulary.

Home-to-School Connection

The Parent Portal makes it easy for parents to monitor their child's progress and ensures that students, parents, and educators are all working toward common goals.
